THE EMBLEM of the Ramakrishna Order depicting the union of the four paths by which the Supreme Being may be realized is below. TWO CLASSES OF PARAMAHAMSAS

After attaining samadhi some souls of their own accord keep the 'ego of Knowledge.' But that ego does not create any attachment. It is like a line drawn on water.

Hanuman kept the 'servant ego' after realizing God in both His personal and His impersonal aspects. He thought of himself as the servant of God. The great sages, such as Narada, Sanaka, Sananda, Sanatma, and Sanatkumara, after attaining the knowledge of Brahman, kept the 'servant ego' and the 'ego of devotion.' They are like big steamships, which not only cross the ocean themselves but carry many passengers to the other shore.

There are two classes of paramahamsas, one affirming the formless Reality and the other affirming God with form. Trailanga Swami believed in the formless Reality. Paramahamsas like him care for their own good alone; they feel satisfied if they themselves attain the goal.

But those paramahamsas who believe in God with form keep the love of God even after attaining the knowledge of Brahman, so that they may teach spiritual truths to others. They are like a pitcher brimful of water. Part of the water may be poured into another pitcher. These perfected souls describe to others the various spiritual disciplines by which they have realized God. They do this only to teach others and to help them in spiritual life. With great effort men dig a well for drinking-water, using spades and baskets for the purpose. After the digging is over, some throw the spades and other implements into the well, not needing them anymore. But some put them away near the well, so that others may use them.

Some eat mangoes secretly and remove all traces of them by wiping their mouths with a towel. But some share the fruit with others. There are sages who, even after attaining Knowledge, work to help others and also to enjoy the bliss of God in the company of devotees. 'I want to eat sugar. I don't want to be sugar.'
